

Christo, Surrounded Islands, Biscayne Bay, Greater Miami, Florida, 1980-1983, 1989. Dye transfer photograph, 20 x 24 inches. The Tom Golden Collection, The Museum of Sonoma County, Santa Rosa, CA, 2001.51.20

This week, Museum Stories looks at the color pink. Watch the short video for some fun with a photograph, book and art project!

LOOK

This is a picture of an island wrapped in or surrounded by pink fabric. An island is land in the middle of water, and this island looks like it has a bright pink walkway around! Can you think of something else that is pink? Is there anything pink in your house? Do you eat any pink foods? Do you know any animals that are pink in color?

READ

This week, the book recommendation is Flora and the Flamingo by Molly Idle and Polar Bear, Polar Bear, What do You Hear? By Bill Martin, Jr and Eric Carle. Flora and the Flamingo is a picture story of a dancing little girl and her flamingo friend. Turn the pages, lift the flaps, and join in the dance! The next book, Polar Bear, Polar Bear, What do You Hear? gives you a chance to identify creatures and make their wonderful animal sounds.

MAKE

Follow along with the video for instructions to make an art project.

VBMA educators created this lesson plan.

Family Programs are supported by:

Presenting Sponsor: Anonymous

Supporting Sponsors: Publix Super Markets Charities, Warren and Virginia Schwerin

Business Partner Sponsor: Mason Investment Advisory Services

Business Supporting Sponsor: Rock City Gardens

Additional Support: Betty Reed Memorial Endowment for Youth Programs